1 Distributed environment: Network management by delegation: the MAD approach

German Goldszmidt, Yechiam Yemini, Shaula Yemini

October 1991 Proceedings of the 1991 conference of the Centre for Advanced Studies on Collaborative research

Full text available:  pdf \(1.39 MB\)

Network management systems built on a client/server model centralize responsibilities in client manager processes, with server agents playing restrictive support roles. As a result, managers must micro-manage agents through primitive steps, resulting in ineffective distribution of management responsibilities, failure-prone management bottlenecks, and limitations for real time responsiveness. We present a more flexible paradigm, the Manager-Agent Delegation (MAD) framework. It supports the ability ...

2 Distributed systems - programming and management: Elastic servers in CORDS

Germán S. Goldszmidt

November 1992 Proceedings of the 1992 conference of the Centre for Advanced Studies on Collaborative research - Volume 2

Full text available:  pdf \(914.04 KB\)

Additional Information: full citation, abstract, references, citations

The traditional client server paradigm for distributed computing, fixes the functionality and interfaces provided by server processes at compile time. While this scheme is powerful enough for many distributed applications, it is too inflexible for many others, such as those envisioned by the CORDS research project. In many applications, there is a need to dynamically add to (and sometimes restrict) the functionality of a server while it is executing. Lacking this ability, servers are often designed ...
